

ABSTRACT

[0066] Embodiments of the present invention provide a convertible luggage including a flexible collapsible compartmented interior structure able to fit when in a collapsed state into an interior of the luggage and to be transformed from the collapsed state into a temporarily sturdy expanded state when the luggage is open.